

Bank Helps Small Stores Compete With Big City Outfits

NEW YORK, May 6—(P)—Like to have a charge account at a bank? A lot of folks on Long Island do. Only when they say "charge it, please" it's not for more spending money, alas. Doubtless that's too much to expect from any bank. But they do buy shirts or dresses or whatever on charge accounts at small merchants in some of Long Island towns. And then the bank takes over the account—and bills them. The store never bothers them about paying. It's got its money from the bank. And the customers themselves pay nothing for the service. The Franklin National Bank of Franklin Square, Long Island, says it's the first ever to put this idea into practice. Arthur T. Roth, president, says the plan helps small merchants compete with suburban branches of city stores. Also, he admits, it helps the bank make more money. Some retailers who are participating say their business has increased as much as 30 per cent, Roth says. He explains that most small merchants lack the working capital and clerks to handle charge accounts. The bank does the job for them—and as a result small shops can offer customers the same charge account facilities as do the big department stores. The plan works this way: A man buys a shirt in one of the participating shops. He has a charge account card—obtained from the bank the same way and under the same credit rating conditions as at a department store.

The merchant deposits the sales slip in his account at the bank, and is credited exactly as if he had deposited cash. The bank takes over from there. It does the bookkeeping on what the customer owes in all the participating stores, sends him invoices, makes collections, credits the customer's account for the shirt if it is returned for any reason. And it charges the merchant five per cent of the amount of each sales slip. Also the merchant's business banking account is carried with Franklin National. And the customers with credit cards issued by the bank are encouraged to be depositors there too. Fifty retail merchants now are participating and the bank is handling 23,000 charge accounts. More than $1 million worth of goods and services have been charged under the plan. Doctors and dentists may be added next. The bank has a plumber now. Vice President William J. Boyle, former department store credit executive, runs the charge account program for the bank. He says customers are paying more promptly than they normally do to a department store.

County Youth Have Big Time At Annual 4-H Club Party

"And a good time was had by all," as the old saying goes, when more than 325 boys and girls representing 50 4-H Clubs all over Fayette County held their big annual party in the Washington C. H. High School gymnasium.

With them were thirty 4-H advisors to lend a tempering influence to the youthful exuberance. The 4-H junior leaders from the two countywide Leadership clubs were given most of the credit for the success of the event this year.

Esther Marting and John Melvin led the Grand March. Kemp Alle-mang and Betty Barton then led the group in singing 4-H camp songs. The boys and girls were then divided into groups of 20 and one of the junior leaders met with each one to play living room games. Those taking part were Martha Hughes, Rodney Acton, Betty Barton, Larry Cleland, Allen Wilt, Roger Bonham, Bill McFadden, Charlene Eakins, Nancy Rife, Lloyd Davis, Esther Marting and Hugh Wilson.

The same group then played circle games led by Joanne Cleland, Joe Wilson, Jo Ann Bock, Roger Hays, Joe Barton, Phyllis Van Dyke, Rosemary Leeth and Lloyd Davis. Beverly Baughn led the group in the Virginia Reel. Square dancing was conducted by Rodney Acton, Hugh Wilson and John Melvin.

ONE OF THE newest portions of the 4-H party was the addition of the talent show, conducted by Mrs. Norma Campbell, the county's home demonstration agent. Those participating in the show included Joan Bock, who gave a piano solo, "The 4-H Friendship Song;" Jack Straley, who sang "Mocking Bird Hill;" the Rangerettes, Jackie Hopes and Barbara Sue Kneisley; Nancy Stephenson, baton twirling; Martha McCallister and Carol Jenkins, vocal duet; Yatesville Trio, Betty Barton, Linda Frederick, Linda Gault, who sang "Mansion Over the Hilltop" and Patty Hunter gave a recitation.

Robert Agle and Albert Cobb acted as masters of ceremonies for the program. Mrs. L. C. Hoppes, president of the 4-H Council, was in charge of the small admittance fee.

The refreshments were provided by a committee made up of Mrs. Hobart Coil, Jeannie Coil, Beverly Coil, Karma Knox, Beverly Baughn, Roger Stockwell, Nancy Rife, Charlene Eakins, Martha Hughes, Lloyd Davis, Larry Cleland and Betty Barton.

The wind did little damage in Fayette County, and the rain was worth thousands of dollars to the farmers.

They agreed that the rain was a big help; that it was sorely needed, especially by the pastures and the fields they were getting ready for corn.

The storm started gathering late in the afternoon when the atmosphere began to get oppressive as ominous black clouds rolled in from the west. But it was not until after sunset that the first showers came against a backdrop of constant flashing of lightning and the rumble of thunder.

The worst of that storm appeared to bypass the county to the north. The center of the second storm, about 11 o'clock, which doused the county with the heaviest rain, went to the south.

THAT WAS when the county was lashed with a strong wind. Some roofs were slightly damaged and (Please turn to Page Two)

Russell Reverses Field, Says He Won't Bolt Party on FEPC

MIAMI, May 6—(P)—Sen. Richard B. Russell's declaration that he will not lead a Southern revolt over civil rights at the Democratic National Convention was the big news Tuesday in Florida's first presidential preference primary in 20 years.

This was the first time the Georgian had said flatly that he will take no part in a walkout such as the one pulled by Southern leaders at the 1948 convention.

Voters went to the polls to make a choice between Russell and tall, slow-talking Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee who already has won Democratic popularity contests in eight states.

A record-smashing vote of almost 800,000 was expected. Russell was regarded as a slight favorite to give Kefauver a licking in the South's only presidential preference contest.

But Kefauver insisted his own chances were good and that "those who are against me are in for a surprise." Others also believe the Tennessee man will pull a surprise victory over Russell.

RUSSELL'S surprise no-bolt statement popped out Monday night (Please turn to Page Two)

RECORD VOTE IS EXPECTED AS OHIO MARKS BALLOT

High School Seniors of County To See Inside of Business Here

Seniors in all five high schools in Fayette County will be given an opportunity Wednesday to see just what makes the American system of free enterprise click when they sit down with the heads of 16 businesses and industries in Washington C. H. and talk things over.

Classes in the schools will be merely shifted to these 16 places of business for the day—for this is still education and a part of their schooling.

The event, known as Business-Industry Education Day, was arranged by the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the school authorities.

It is scheduled to start at 9:15 A. M. when the seniors assemble at the Fayette Theater. There they are to be shown a motion picture entitled, "Going Places," and be given an explanation of the purpose and plan of BIE Day by Ed Moser, the chairman of the Chamber committee that set up the program.

At 10 o'clock, the students are to meet their hosts for the day. They will break up into groups to go with them to the businesses and industries they represent.

THE STUDENTS will be their guests for the day, including luncheon. Some will be served at restaurants; others will sit down at the luncheon tables right in the places of business.

The students will be entertained at those businesses and industries in which they previously had expressed special interest. The purpose is not to make a plant tour to see production; rather it is to show the future generations first hand how business is run and how it operates from the dollars and cents point of view. In a word—the foundation of free enterprise, its problems and its rewards.

The Chamber has said: "BIE Day for seniors is to be a student's view of American business enterprise in action."

C. E. McCarley, the executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who resigned about a month ago, agreed to remain here and help carry through the details of the BIE Day program.

THE 16 BUSINESSES and industries who are participating in the events are: Armo Drainage & Metal Products Co.; Brown & Brockmeyer; Coffman Stair Co.; Cudahy Packing Co.; Dayton Power & Light Co.; Memorial Hospital; First National Bank; Washington Hotel; Med-O-Pure Dairy; National Cash Register Co.; Ohio Bell Telephone Co.; Ohio Water Service Co.; Pennington Brothers Bakery; The Record-Herald; Washington Savings Bank and Webber French Mfg. Co.

Thirteen students are to come from Bloomingburg, 8 from Good Hope, 24 from Jeffersonville, 8 from Madison Mills and 100 from Washington C. H.

Each of the five schools will assign one teacher to the BIE Day. There will be one each at the Brown & Brockmeyer plant, Cudahy Packing Co., Med-O-Pure Dairy, National Cash Register and Pennington Brothers Bakery.

The schedule has been timed to conclude the event at 3 o'clock when the hosts will see that all of their guests are back at the Fayette Theater. From there, the students are to return to their school for dismissal after one of the most unusual days of education in their lives.

Foreign Aid Bill Due For More Study

WASHINGTON, May 6—(P)—The $6.9 billion foreign aid bill was shunted to the Armed Services Committee Tuesday for 10 more days of study before the Senate itself can debate the measure.

There was a possibility that the committee would make another slush in the total, but Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo) said he doubted such action would be taken.

The Senate voted Monday to refer the big mutual security bill to the armed services group by a 40 to 33 margin.

The Foreign Relations Committee had the measure for almost two months and voted last week to knock $1 billion off the $7.9 billion asked by President Truman.

Floor debate was to begin Monday, with the leadership hoping for final passage later this week. But Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) moved at the start of Monday's session that the measure go to Armed Services, of which he is a member.

Thirty-seven Republicans and three Democrats voted for the motion; 31 Democrats and two Republicans opposed it.

Democratic Leader McFarland (Ariz) said the vote probably would delay adjournment of the Senate by three weeks. The lawmakers have been aiming at a July 1 quitting date in order to get to the national conventions in Chicago.

Light Vote Indicated By Check at Noon Here

A very light Democratic vote and a Republican vote near normal, was indicated by reports from various precincts in the city and county at noon Tuesday, as voters went to the polls in the statewide primary election.

In some precincts, the Republican balloting started out 10 to 15 to one Democrat, indicating the lightness of the Democratic vote as reflected by the forenoon balloting.

While the number of ballots will not be heavy, unless the afternoon voting builds it up materially, the count-out is expected to be slow.

The number of delegates-at-large to the national convention and alternates-at-large will require a great deal of time to count. Early estimates indicate that it may be 8:30 to 9 P. M. before complete returns are received from the first precincts to count out.

ALTHOUGH the campaign has been one of the hottest in many years here, many farmers were passing by their chance to vote rather than lose precious time from their spring work in the fields.

Indications early in the day were that the good weather would put considerable of a crimp in the rural vote and might have some effect on that in the city.

Both political camps have been exhorting the citizenry to get out and vote for more than a month. The Young Business Men's organization even went so far as to set up an agency to transport voters to and from the polls if they could find no other way to get there. It had some calls, but business could be not called rushing.

Most of the interest here centered on the Republican primary, because there not only were the heated presidential gubernatorial and congressional decisions to be made by the voters, but they also had contests for local offices.

There were only two contests of consequence on the Democratic ballot for president and for senator. Candidates for county office nominations were without opposition.

Gunshot Wound Proves Fatal

COLUMBUS, May 6—(P)—Walter Caldwell, 69, died in University Hospital Monday night of a gunshot wound.

Police Sgt. Alfred J. Lashley said Caldwell was shot in the left thigh by a special city patrolman last Sunday. Lashley said Caldwell was chasing a woman with a knife. The special city patrolman was identified as Elbert Bowman, 41.

1 1/2 Million Turnout Seen By Officials

GOP Gubernatorial Test Tops Interest On State Level

COLUMBUS, May 6—(P)—Ohio voters trooped to the polls Tuesday to nominate candidates for everything ranging from national convention delegate to county committeeman.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown estimated 1 1/2 million Ohioans would cast ballots in the primary election. Brown predicted a 3-2 ratio vote—900,000 Republican ballots and 600,000 Democrats.

This would be about 214,000 more than in the 1948 record presidential primary and about 450 more than voted in the 1950 primary. The 1948 vote was 1,286,721.

Backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio put on a sustained drive Tuesday in an effort to roll up a huge ballot total for his 56 Republican presidential nominating delegate candidates.

Ten are running in statewide races and 46 in district contests. Taft's backers, confidently predicting they will elect at least 52 of the 56 GOP convention delegates to be chosen, sought an impressive total for their state which could be cited elsewhere as demonstrating that Ohio is soundly behind Taft in his bid for the GOP nomination.

Taft's bid for Ohio GOP delegates was opposed directly by Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who hasn't done so well in previous primaries.

STASSEN has a 47-vote slate in the field and is pinning his hopes of electing part of them on reputed anti-Taft sentiment in some of Ohio's industrial areas.

Two delegate candidates who say they will vote for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Chicago if elected, are running in district contests. There is no popularity contest in the balloting and write-ins are barred by Ohio law.

THE REPUBLICAN battle for the nomination for governor gave voters the choice of three persons: Roscoe R. Walcutt, state senate majority leader, of Columbus; Former Gov. Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland, and Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the senator.

Democratic incumbent Gov. Frank J. Lausche is unopposed for renomination to a fourth term.

In the Democratic column is the bitterest fight for the U. S. Senatorial nomination. The four contenders are state Rep. James M. Carney of Cleveland, minority leader of the house; Michael V. DiSalle, former mayor of Toledo and former director of the Office of Price Stabilization; George L. Mark of Cleveland, and John W. Donahy of Hudson, son of the late Ohio governor and U. S. Senator Vic Donahy.

Republican Incumbent John W. Bricker of Columbus is unopposed for renomination.

Ohioans will ballot for nominations for 23 district congressmen for the first time. The one congressman-at-large post has been eliminated and a new 23rd Congressional District created. Rep. George Bender, the congressman-at-large, is seeking the GOP nomination in the new district.

Many congressional districts have had their boundaries changed since the election two years ago. Twenty-one of the 23 congressmen are seeking re-nomination. Fifty-six others are challenging them for nomination.

Of the 77 candidates, 35 are Democrats, 41 Republicans and one an independent.

In the legislative races, 559 candidates are seeking 169 seats in the next general assembly. There are 288 Republicans running for (Please turn to Page Two)

Officers Named By PTA Council

New Unit Presidents Are Introduced

Mrs. Charles Hurtt today was starting her second term as president of the City Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

With her in one of the key positions will be Mrs. Edwin Ducey, who will be serving as second term a secretary.

They and the other officers of the organization were chosen by acclamation at Monday night's meeting of the council in the high school cafeteria. Mrs. James Rose was named the first vice president, Mrs. Robert Moats the second vice president, Mrs. Norris Highfield the third vice president and Mrs. Warner Penrod the treasurer.

The slate of candidates was presented by a nominating committee made up of Mrs. Otis B. Core, chairman, Mrs. Max Wilson and Mrs. William Clarke.

THE RETIRING presidents of the five PTA units in the city introduced their successors: Mrs. Jack Yeoman of Rose Avenue, Mrs. Frank Dudley of Sunnyside, Mrs. Joe Loudner of Eastside, Milford Barker of Central and Robert Lisk of Cherry Hill. Three of the new unit presidents are mothers and two are fathers.

Mrs. Moats and Mrs. Penrod reported to the council on the district PTA meeting they attended recently in Dayton.

Each of the unit presidents gave a report of the year's accomplishments.

Mrs. Hurtt announced that Wilberforce University will conduct what are commonly termed "work shops" on parent education on June 13 and urged that each unit send at least one delegate. These "work shops" are in the nature of clinical discussions where there subjects are expounded by authorities on the basis of research, study and experience.

Supt. Stephen Brown told the council about the crowded condition of the city schools and the outlook for the future.

The council voted to extend to the city board of education members its "appreciation for what they have done concerning the crowded conditions and problems facing both city and county schools and for their open-minded efforts to solve the problems."

Jim Merritt Heads Silver Rocket Club

Jim Merritt was elected president of the Silver Rocket Motorcycle Club at its regular meeting in the club rooms Monday evening. Tommy Myers was elected vice president.

Other officers chosen were: Virginia Houseman, secretary; Esther Willis, treasurer; Robert Whitfield, road captain; Jim Willis, assistant road captain; Jo Scott, corresponding secretary; Thelma Haynes, news reporter and Marie Myers and Helen Merritt, house committee members.

A number of the men in the club will don coveralls Saturday, get out the paint brushes and paint the outside of the club house on the New Holland Road. They didn't announce the color they had selected, but eventually the name of the club in silver and black will be added.

A report on Eddie Pendergraft, one of the members who is breaking into the racing end of motorcycling, was made. He was fourth in the elimination heat he participated in at the Plain City race meeting last Sunday.

It was announced that there would be a movie on motorcycling at the Indian motorcycle shop this coming Saturday evening.

The members also decided to have a wiener roast next Monday evening at the club house.

The next regular meeting will be on the following Monday, May 19.

during a television debate with Kefauver which developed at times into a bitter quarrel. Both men showed the strain of their hard campaigns under Florida's hot sun.

At one point Kefauver said he wouldn't "pick up my marbles and run home" if the Democratic national convention should approve a civil rights program including a Compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Russell retorted: "If you mean to imply that I'm going to leave the party—oh, no! I'm not going to leave the party."

Reporters later questioned Russell about the meaning of his statement and he said: "I will not walk out of the convention on an FEPC fight. I intend to stay right there and fight it out."

In the past, Kefauver has said he would accept a compulsory FEPC plank in the Democratic platform if it were approved by the convention—while Russell had said he would not accept it.

Men's Garden Club Is To Discuss Roses

Members of the Men's Garden Club are going to talk about roses when they get together in the Farm Bureau building auditorium for their monthly meeting Tuesday (tonight) night.

That was disclosed by Dr. W. H. Limes, the president, when he reminded the 26 members of the club of the time and place of the meeting.

Richard Witherspoon is down on the program to lead the discussion on roses, but indications are that as soon as he finishes his discourse and shows a motion picture on how to grow them, most of the club members will take the occasion to express their ideas.

These round-table discussions, in-to which nearly everyone enters with gusto, have been among the highlights of the meetings. They usually are sent off to a good start with a talk on a selected subject by one of the members.

The club was organized less than a year ago. And, it is now admitted that it already is bigger than any of those originally interested had expected. The door is still open, too.

While it is a loosely knit organization, it does have a set of rules and regulations for a guide and officers to pull the loose ends together. Walter Patton is the secretary. The dues are only nominal, just enough to meet the incidental expenses.

The club was formed with the help of the county extension service which, incidentally, is continuing to lend a helping hand.

Warning Issued By Ohio Bell Co.

"The Ohio Bell Telephone Company has no connection whatever with current solicitations for paid listings in an 'Ohio Business Classified Directory,'" Paul Dougherty, commercial manager of the Telephone Company said today.

Photostatic copies of advertisements and other listings in Ohio Bell classified telephone directories are being mailed to businessmen here and elsewhere with the request that pre-payment be made on the same insertion in the statewide directory.

"Since the promoters of this state directory are using copies of our classified listings to solicit business, many of our customers think we are connected with it," Dougherty said. "We know nothing about it. No one has been authorized to use our directory material in this or any other promotion."

The solicitations are mailed from Canton.

No Overabundance FB Council Believes

After a lengthy discussion of corn quotas for 1952 and the ups and downs of the potato supply, the Union Township Farm Bureau Council No. 1 came up with the conclusion that "there is no overabundance" of foodstuffs.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson and Thompson was the discussion leader.

Two ways of increasing corn production this year were the center of most of the discussion on that particular topic: (1) Increasing the acreage and (2) increasing the yield through fertilization and careful selection best adapted to local conditions.

The price of potatoes drew considerable fire in view of "last year's crop which was rendered unfit for use" and the shortage this year.

Seasonal refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour. She was assisted by Mrs. Edgar Coil and Mrs. Ralph Hays.

Storm Hits County

a few limbs were torn off trees, but nothing more.

The rain and wind storm sent the mercury plummeting 30 degrees from a high of 90 degrees during the afternoon to 60 during the night. By comparison, the temperature reached a high of 64 on the same date last year and a low of 42.

While Fayette County escaped the worst of Monday night's rampage by the elements, it climaxed one of the hottest May 5ths on record in some parts of the state.

Alliance, Columbus and East Liverpool all felt the effects of the heavy winds.

Lightning, rain and wind toppled chimneys, broke windows, pushed over trees and set a minor fire in one Columbus home.

In Alliance, winds pushed in a wall of the Morgan Engineering Co. plant. In East Liverpool, 30 to 40 mile an hour winds accompanied a two-hour storm.

Earlier, the thermometer hit 92 degrees in Toledo, the highest mark reported in the state. It was the hottest May 5 there in 81 years.

Cleveland recorded 86, and Columbus wilted under its hottest May 5 in 37 years with a high of 91.8.

Cincinnati sweltered for its second day high of 86 degrees, and Dayton's 90.2 was the city's hottest May day in history.

In Columbus, the report said "heavy to very heavy." Long lines of voters stood patiently in many precincts, waiting for the polling

Is Military Situation a Matter of Opinion?

Most people would like to know the real and positive truth as to this nation's military situation.

Right now they are being confused by varying reports. The constant demands for huge sums of money from military sources bothers many who recall the scores of billions which already have been pushed into the military financial pot in the last few years.

As the matter now stands some insist the country's military situation is excellent, others that it is merely so-and-so. Some say the country is safely defended, but others tell us how vulnerable we are to outside attack. It seems to be all personal opinions depending on the official or writer or broadcaster who talks of the developments.

While many in high places maintain the nation is ready for any eventualities, others point with alarm to what they say is lack of preparedness and sufficient military power, especially in the air.

Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, retired, former commander of the Continental Air Command, which has the task of defending the nation by air, said recently he doesn't know what the situation is today, but if the enemy had attacked nine months ago it would have been just too bad, and the attack would have succeeded "beyond the fondest hopes of the enemy."

Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, declares Russia is making progress in atomic weapons, and already has enough to cause great damage. Baldwin sees no immediate war, but warns that the year 1954 may bring a critical world situation.

Others, who should know what they are talking about, subscribe to different views. They think Russia has internal problems which will prevent the launching of another war.

Only time holds the answer to this fatal situation.

Approximately 200,000 Britons and West Europeans will emigrate to Australia this year, a figure reminiscent of the days when immigration bars were down in the United States.

Australia encourages the migration and is negotiating with the West German government for passage of some of the thousands of refugees reaching Germany from eastern Europe in flight from Communism.

Australia in one of the most sparsely populated countries on earth, has room for more people. It naturally prefers kindred folk from the North Temperate Zone. With a doubled population, Australia would be more secure against the threat of invasion by Asia's agitated masses. And the immigrants should find renewed hope and opportunity in that under-developed land.

Government has removed the ban on white sidewall tires which, it seems, was applied in the first place mainly to let the people know who is boss.

Drive On Horsemeat

Health authorities, both state and federal, aroused by evidence that horsemeat is being sold as beef by unscrupulous distributors, have started an investigation which eventually will be extended to every state. Chicago has been identified as the center of the horsemeat racket.

Few cities have facilities for testing meat, to determine which is beef and which is not. Samples seized by investigators are frozen and sent to Washington to be tested by U. S. health authorities.

Town Proud of Ancestry

WINCHESTER, Va.—America is becoming more and more festival-conscious.

In the last generation every section of the country has originated regional celebrations that rival in color and splendor the best of Europe's fetes.

One of the most unusual and lavish of these spectacles is the annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival. Its theme:

"The bounties of nature are the gifts of God."

The festival is set against a beautiful backdrop of some 700,000 apple trees that look—in their gowns of pink and white bloom—like a vast convention of lovely brides. For two days some 200,000 visitors through the historic streets which once knew the stride of George Washington and Stonewall Jackson.

There are so many parties, dances, parades and pageants during the festival that a man going to one is likely to meet himself coming back from another. People drive hundreds of miles to attend them.

The unusual thing is how a city of less than 15,000 population can stage a show of such proportions. The secret behind it is a story of community effort and cooperation based on hometown pride.

"There are no fulltime professional workers," said Tom Baldridge, director general of the festival. "But we have 2,300 volunteer workers—and we start planning a full year in advance."

Some 1,600 students and teachers worked months to prepare "The Harvest of the Years," a pageant highlighting Winchester's crowded 200 years. The city, oldest community west of the Blue Ridge, changed hands more than 70 times during the Civil War, and more than 100 engagements were fought in its vicinity.

This year the festival queen was Nina (Honey Bear) Warren, 18-year-old daughter of California's governor. She was crowned by Bernard M. Baruch.

Some 5,000 marched in the parade, which featured more than 60 drum and bugle corps.

"We finally had to limit the number," said Baldridge. "We've had bands come from as far as Miami to march with us."

By Hal Boyle

The festival is about a $250,000 production, but the community doesn't look on it as a money-making venture.

"People can come here and see our show without ever spending a single penny," said Baldridge. And that's exactly what a lot of them do. They even bring along their own box lunches.

When the festival is over, the entire community is glad to lean back and relax for a few days—and then the planning starts for next year.

I asked one mother what the festival meant to the community, and she said:

"It is important because it teaches us we can do the impossible."

Ancestry talk is highly popular at this period, and I overheard one interesting remark by a lady discussing the Tucker family and the George Washington family.

"Of course," she said, "you know it was the Washingtons that married into the Tuckers—not the other way around."

I gathered that the lady was a Tucker herself—and proud of it.

Constitution Protects Freedom

Throughout the history of our country, the Constitution has stood as a bulwark against tyranny, anarchy and confusion. In war or peace, in good times and bad, the Constitution has established the immutable fact this is a government of law, not of men.

This remarkable fact of our history explains the continuity of government for 163 years, with only one rebellion to challenge the existence of an indivisible nation. As Federal District Judge David A. Pine has so clearly stated in the steel seizure case, the United States of America came into existence upon the adoption of the Constitution, which is a contract among the states; in effect, it is a contract among the peoples of the states.

The Constitution can be amended by legal means; it may not be violated by whim or by obiter dicta. And the essence of the Constitution is that powers are derived from it and from no other source. The decision of Judge Pine in the steel seizure case, like the decision of the supreme court in the sick chicken case abolishing the NRA, makes it clear beyond cavil that neither the Congress nor the president nor the judiciary are free to go their merry way, to bend the functions of government to their will or to the necessities of a particular occasion. They, like the rest of us, must obey the law, and the law is the Constitution.

One of the most significant paragraphs in Judge Pine's decision is his denunciation of the doctrine that a wrong act, once permitted to stand, becomes a precedent for a continuation and perpetuation of wrong acts. To hold otherwise would be to condone murder because some murderers go unpunished.

Our is a system of a written Constitution, of law passed by Congress, approved by the president and upheld as to their constitutionality by the courts. No provision is made in the Constitution for government by precedent. Of all this, Judge Pine wrote in the steel seizure case decision:

"He (the lawyer for the government) next refers to seizures by former presidents, some during war and several shortly preceding a war, without the authority of statute, but it is difficult to follow his argument that several prior acts apparently unauthorized by law, but never questioned in the courts, by repetition clothe a later unauthorized act with the cloak of legality. Apparently, according to his theory, several repetitive, unchallenged, illegal acts sanctify those committed thereafter. I disagree."

What is unauthorized by law cannot therefore become law by presidential fiat and by precedent. The law must be established by due process, and violation of the law does not justify itself because the violation is unchallenged.

For 20 years now, the president, using economic distress and war

as explanations, has expanded the powers and authorities of office beyond the clear intent of the Constitution. Three concepts entered into this:

1. That the Preamble to the Constitution is part of that document and not an introductory paragraph thereto. Out of this concept arose the use of the single word, welfare, to expand presidential powers beyond the clear meaning of Article II of the Constitution. This interpretation of the Preamble violated Amendment Ten of the Constitution and the decisions relating to it; yet, because challenges were not always made, the "welfare state" developed under this assumption;

2. That the president possesses inherent powers, not specified in the Constitution but arising from the nature of the office. This concept is alien to the United States, because it recognizes the "leadership principle" upon which Hitler founded the Nazi state in Germany. In the United States, the "leadership principle" has never been recognized by law and therefore cannot exist. Judge Pine made the American view on this subject clear when he said:

"That is defendant's only support for his position and for his stewardship theory of the office of president, but with all due deference and respect for that great President of the United States, I am obliged to say that his statements do not comport with our recognized theory of government, but with a theory with which our government of laws and not of men is constantly at war;"

3. That the president possesses "unlimited powers," which is utterly fantastic in the nature of checks and balances in our system of government designed to avert tyranny.

It is doubtful that any court could hold differently without invalidating the Constitution. Copyright 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Histamine Injection As Aid in Paralysis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Lately we have been hearing much about some new drugs that doctors welcome. Take histamine injections, which are sometimes helpful in relieving the paralysis of the face known as Bell's palsy. Quite a number of people suffer from this disorder, but most of them have the less serious type and recover in a month or two.

Bell's palsy usually attacks suddenly. The face seems to sag from the paralysis of the facial muscles. The eyelid and a corner of the mouth may droop and the person has trouble talking and chewing.

Disfigurement Varies

The change in appearance resulting from an attack differs for people of different ages, or facial expressions. The change is most noticeable, of course, in the person who uses his facial expression a great deal, and the muscles that are used most are the ones that sag most. The "dead pan" type of person is disfigured the least.

An attack may bring severe pain, usually around the ear, before the paralysis develops. Pain below the ear may persist for many days and become very annoying indeed.

We do not know the exact cause of Bell's palsy. It may be due to pressure on the facial nerve where it passes through the bone. About 80 per cent of patients have the less serious type of the disease, which usually passes off without difficulty. The more severe type occurs when the facial nerve degenerates. Patients with this type do not recover unless the nerve is regenerated, which may take from three to nine months.

Prompt Treatment

It is important to start treating Bell's palsy promptly—as soon as the paralysis starts, if possible. The nerves and muscles should not be given a chance to lose their function. They should be stimulated by electricity under the direction of a physician. Intravenous injections of histamine, given daily, have also produced favorable results in some cases.

It is especially important to protect the eyes during the period of palsy by wearing an eye shield or glasses. The reason for this is that the eye reflex is absent, and it is easy to injure the cornea or front of the eye, damaging the eyeball permanently.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. L.: Is it well to force a child to eat even though he does not want to eat the food set before him?

Answer: It is not advisable. If the child is continuously forced to eat, he will develop a dislike for the foods offered and the eating problem will become worse as time progresses. It might also cause other behavior problems.

Minorities Feared by Politicians

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, May 6 — The practical politicians' fear of retaliatory action by a few organized minorities strategically situated in decisive voting centers has become so great that only two candidates in the 1952 presidential free-for-all have dared to take a strong stand in opposition to their demands. They are Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

The disproportionate ballot-box power of these largely urban elements, which was built up during the Roosevelt-Truman regime, may decide the identities of the two parties' nominees at the July conventions and the winner in the November election. They will be invisible but influential delegates at the two Chicago gatherings.

OBJECTION — It is a tribute to their dictatorial role that the principal objection against the nomination of Senator Taft is embodied in the assertion that "he cannot get the labor vote."

Similarly, their grip on the politicians is recognized in the almost unanimous opinion that, despite his many qualifications, Senator Russell cannot obtain the support of racial elements in the cities of the North and West.

The only entry who so far stands four-square in favor of these minorities' legislative demands is Governor Earl Warren of California. Maintaining that he is merely abiding by the GOP's 1948 platform, he advocates creation of a Fair Employment Practices Commission with compulsory powers and amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act so as to meet organized labor's objections.

He thinks that statute is as one-sided as the predecessor Wagner Act, which was written at the dictation of the unions.

UNACCEPTABLE — The two leading Democratic lights, now that Truman is unavailable appear to be Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and W. Averell Harriman of New York. There is still hopeful talk of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, and Vice President Barkley is frequently mentioned as an outside possibility. Senator Kerr is in the race just for the fun of it, even though he may not know it.

Kefauver says that he prefers a voluntary or state-enforced FEPC, but promises to accept a compulsory alternative, if it is written into the platform. It is his willingness to compromise which makes him unacceptable to the backers of Senator Russell of Georgia. The Tennesseean is also vaguish on Taft-Hartley.

WABBLING — Harriman, as the Truman favorite, should be all-out for a federal FEPC and T-H repeal. But it is known that his distinguished sponsor in the White House is as willing to retreat on both these issues in order to prevent a party split as he was in 1948 on civil rights, and the New Yorker would raise no serious objections. He is not a fighting man.

Kerr, of course, is wiggling and dabbling on every issue, as anybody who has heard him on recent television programs must recognize. He is for aid to Europe, an ambassador at the Vatican, an FEPC, a labor-management law and for everything else that some people are for.

However, he always concludes his positive assertions with a "but," and an "on the other hand." In short, he is for Kerr, home and mother, and the United States.

MISGIVINGS — General Eisenhower may yet make public his views on these questions, but so far he has withheld them. Nor have his promoters here reached an agreement on how they think he should handle them. Final decision will await his return to this country in June.

In fact, "Ike" has already raised some misgivings about his forthrightness in replying to two queries on political issues. When Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. of New York, a Negro minister, asked his views on FEPC, Eisenhower replied that his military preoccupations had prevented him from giving sufficient study to the subject. He asked for "time out."

But when a friendly Texan requested his attitude on federal or state ownership of tideland oil properties, "Ike" gave an immediate, firm answer lining him up against "centralization or federalization of power."

'PHONY' — Although the Russell-Kefauver duel in today's Florida primary involves relatively few delegates, the result will be of major importance to the Tennessee crime-chaser. It could knock him out of the race or make him a really serious contender for the Democratic nomination.

Despite Kefauver's primary victories and street-corner popularity, he is no favorite with the politicians. Truman and the big-state bosses oppose him. He must prove, possibly today, that he is strong in the South, where he is likewise out of step with the politicians. They regard him as a "phony liberal" and a deserter of the Dixie confederacy on Capitol Hill.

ASSETS — He has several assets in today's contest. His Miami crime investigation earned him publicity and confidence among people critical of the free-and-easy Warren Administration. He has only one slate of delegates, whereas Senator Russell's backers have entered so many delegate lists that they may split his vote.

Thus, if Kefauver loses, his movement becomes a one-man affair. If he wins, the hostile politicians, including the man in the White House, can laugh him off no longer. He may have to appear on the ticket in first or in second place. So, watch Florida!

It makes each drop of gas say uncle

ACCORDING to combustion experts, there's as much energy locked in a drop of gasoline as there is in a drop of nitroglycerine.

But the problem is to put that energy to work.

So Buick engineers aren't content just to mix that drop with air and touch it off. They've designed an engine that brings it catapulting into a cylinder head where it strikes a turbo-top piston—gets whipped into a churning, swirling ball of tight-packed energy.

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

10 Days in Jail And Usual Fine

Intoxicated Driver Faces Court

Another intoxicated driver felt the weight of a prison term in addition to the $250 fine and suspension from driving for one year when he was taken before Judge R. L. Brubaker in municipal court Monday.

He was William V. Smith, 26, city. He was, however, allowed to serve his time in the city jail instead of the Cincinnati Workhouse.

He was the third man to be given 10 days in jail in addition to the usual fine for driving while intoxicated.

Judge Brubaker has made it clear that prison terms are now part of the punishment for drivers who are operating their motor vehicles while intoxicated.

William A. Spearman, Philadelphia, facing a charge of reckless operation after his car had jammed into another car, forcing a car in front of it into a school bus at Johnson's Crossing last Thursday was fined $25 and costs which he paid.

A charge of giving a worthless check to defraud filed against Carl Harris was withdrawn.

Glenn Edward Payton, 19, on a reckless operation charge following an accident at North Street and Temple early Monday morning was fined $50 and costs and his driving permit suspended for three months and $35 of the fine was suspended when he proves to the court that he has liability insurance.

The case of William Adams, charged with cutting to kill Ray Wilson, was continued from Monday until Wednesday. His bond is to be increased, it was indicated.

Two intoxicated persons got 10 days in jail, in addition to the usual fine. The jail sentences were suspended pending good behavior.

New 4-H Club Named Golden Needles Now

One of the most recently organized 4-H clubs in the county now has a name—the Golden Needles.

The name was selected when the 10 member girls held their second meeting Saturday afternoon at the home of Margaret Campbell.

The roll call was answered with the name of a fruit.

Two main questions were discussed: a project to raise some money for the club and a booth for the club displays at the Fair next July.

Mrs. H. Condon Campbell is the advisor and Miss Joan Campbell, her daughter, the junior advisor. The next meeting is to be held May 17 at the Campbell home.

Taft Pondering Envoy Withdrawal

CLEVELAND, May 6—(P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft says, with a string attached, the United States should consider withdrawing its envoys from Moscow.

Taft declared in a radio broadcast Sunday he saw no purpose in having envoys in Moscow where they are "virtual prisoners" of the Russians who "hardly let them out of the embassy."

But he said he would not press for withdrawal of U. S. recognition of Soviet Russia and her satellites until he had more definite information on the consequences involved.

U. S. Military Chiefs Say No War In Sight

WASHINGTON, May 6—(P)—A growing impression among top American military leaders that Russia won't launch a hot war soon appears based partly on a belief the Soviet Union needs more time to put her armed forces and economy in readiness.

This is in addition to more obvious reason, including the improved condition of the mutual defense setup in Western Europe, and the bald fact that Communist Russia has been doing exceedingly well with just a Cold War of subversion, pressure on weak nations, and promoting a "little" war in Korea.

Over the weekend, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff of the combined Western Defense forces in Europe, pointed up what he and others had said before. In a radio interview he expressed belief the Russians would not attack this year or in the near future. In fact, he does not subscribe to the doctrine that war is inevitable.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has commented that among the reasons the Russians have had for not starting war is the superior atomic stockpile of the United States. American airpower and the collective security arrangements in Europe. But he added "we don't know what the Soviet imperialists intend to do."

Ike Is Quoted As Favoring Some Subsidies

PARIS, May 6—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was quoted Monday as favoring the continuation of some of price subsidies for farmers if he is elected U. S. President.

George T. Mickelson, former governor of South Dakota who flew here Sunday to discuss farm problems with Gen. Eisenhower said:

"Gen. Eisenhower feels that the production of food and fiber is the most important industry in the United States, and that those engaged in that industry must be protected from disaster.

"He feels that there must be a correlation between the producer and the consumer in order that the economy of the whole country will be kept in balance."

Mickelson added that Eisenhower agreed that "such a correlation probably would entail government subsidies to underwrite prices of farm produce."

Mickelson is head of the Eisenhower-for-President movement in South Dakota and is heading a slate of Eisenhower delegates entered in the Republican presidential primary in that state June 3.

Is Military Situation a Matter of Opinion?

Most people would like to know the real and positive truth as to this nation's military situation.

Right now they are being confused by varying reports. The constant demands for huge sums of money from military sources bothers many who recall the scores of billions which already have been pushed into the military financial pot in the last few years.

As the matter now stands some insist the country's military situation is excellent, others that it is merely so-and-so. Some say the country is safely defended, but others tell us how vulnerable we are to outside attack. It seems to be all personal opinions depending on the official or writer or broadcaster who talks of the developments.

While many in high places maintain the nation is ready for any eventualities, others point with alarm to what they say is lack of preparedness and sufficient military power, especially in the air.

Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, retired, former commander of the Continental Air Command, which has the task of defending the nation by air, said recently he doesn't know what the situation is today, but if the enemy had attacked nine months ago it would have been just too bad, and the attack would have succeeded "beyond the fondest hopes of the enemy."

Hanson Baldwin, military editor of the New York Times, declares Russia is making progress in atomic weapons, and already has enough to cause great damage. Baldwin sees no immediate war, but warns that the year 1954 may bring a critical world situation.

Others, who should know what they are talking about, subscribe to different views. They think Russia has internal problems which will prevent the launching of another war.

Only time holds the answer to this fateful situation.

May Be Answer

Approximately 200,000 Britons and West Europeans will emigrate to Australia this year, a figure reminiscent of the days when immigration bars were down in the United States.

Australia encourages the migration and is negotiating with the West German government for passage of some of the thousands of refugees reaching Germany from eastern Europe in flight from Communism.

Australia in one of the most sparsely populated countries on earth, has room for more people. It naturally prefers kindred folk from the North Temperate Zone. With a doubled population, Australia would be more secure against the threat of invasion by Asia's agitated masses. And the immigrants should find renewed hope and opportunity in that underdeveloped land.

Government has removed the ban on white sidewall tires which, it seems, was applied in the first place mainly to let the people know who is boss.

Drive On Horsemeat

Health authorities, both state and federal, aroused by evidence that horsemeat is being sold as beef by unscrupulous distributors, have started an investigation which eventually will be extended to every state. Chicago has been identified as the center of the horsemeat racket.

Few cities have facilities for testing meat, to determine which is beef and which is not. Samples seized by investigators are frozen and sent to Washington to be tested by U. S. health authorities.

Town Proud of Ancestry

WINCHESTER, Va.—America is becoming more and more festival-conscious.

In the last generation every section of the country has originated regional celebrations that rival in color and splendor the best of Europe's fetes.

One of the most unusual and lavish of these spectacles is the annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival. Its theme:

"The bounties of nature are the gifts of God."

The festival is set against a beautiful backdrop of some 700,000 apple trees that look—in their gowns of pink and white bloom—like a vast convention of lovely brides. For two days some 200,000 visitors through the historic streets which once knew the stride of George Washington and Stonewall Jackson.

There are so many parties, dances, parades and pageants during the festival that a man going to one is likely to meet himself coming back from another. People drive hundreds of miles to attend them.

The unusual thing is how a city of less than 15,000 population can stage a show of such proportions. The secret behind it is a story of community effort and cooperation based on hometown pride.

"There are no fulltime professional workers," said Tom Baldrige, director general of the festival. "But we have 2,300 volunteer workers—and we start planning a full year in advance." Some 1,600 students and teachers worked months to prepare "The Harvest of the Years," a pageant highlighting Winchester's crowded 200 years. The city, oldest community west of the Blue Ridge, changed hands more than 70 times during the Civil War, and more than 100 engagements were fought in its vicinity.

This year the festival queen was Nina (Honey Bear) Warren, 18-year-old daughter of California's governor. She was crowned by Bernard M. Baruch. Some 5,000 marched in the parade, which featured more than 60 drum and bugle corps. "We finally had to limit the number," said Baldrige. "We've had bands come from as far as Miami to march with us."

The festival is about a $250,000 production, but the community doesn't look on it as a money-making venture. "People can come here and see our show without ever spending a single penny," said Baldrige. And that's exactly what a lot of them do. They even bring along their own box lunches.

When the festival is over, the entire community is glad to lean back and relax for a few days—and then the planning starts for next year.

I asked one mother what the festival meant to the community, and she said: "It is important because it teaches us we can do the impossible."

Ancestry talk is highly popular at this period, and I overheard one interesting remark by a lady discussing the Tucker family and the George Washington family. "Of course," she said, "you know it was the Washingtons that married into the Tuckers—not the other way around."

I gathered that the lady was a Tucker herself—and proud of it.

Constitution Protects Freedom

Throughout the history of our country, the Constitution has stood as a bulwark against tyranny, anarchy and confusion. In war or peace, in good times and bad, the Constitution has established the immutable fact this is a government of law, not of men.

This remarkable fact of our history explains the continuity of government for 163 years, with only one rebellion to challenge the existence of an indivisible nation. As Federal District Judge David A. Pine has so clearly stated in the steel seizure case, the United States of America came into existence upon the adoption of the Constitution, which is a contract among the states; in effect, it is a contract among the peoples of the states.

The Constitution can be amended by legal means; it may not be violated by whim or by obiter dicta. And the essence of the Constitution is that powers are derived from it and from no other source. The decision of Judge Pine in the steel seizure case, like the decision of the supreme court in the sick chicken case abolishing the NRA, makes it clear beyond cavil that neither the Congress nor the president nor the judiciary are free to go their merry way, to bend the functions of government to their will or to the necessities of a particular occasion. They, like the rest of us, must obey the law, and the law is the Constitution.

One of the most significant paragraphs in Judge Pine's decision is his denunciation of the doctrine that a wrong act, once permitted to stand, becomes a precedent for a continuation and perpetuation of wrong acts. To hold otherwise would be to condone murder because some murderers go unpunished.

Our is a system of a written Constitution, of law passed by Congress, approved by the president and upheld as to their constitutionality by the courts. No provision is made in the Constitution for government by precedent. Of all this, Judge Pine wrote in the steel seizure case decision:

"He (the lawyer for the government) next refers to seizures by former presidents, some during war and several shortly preceding a war, without the authority of statute, but it is difficult to follow his argument that several prior acts apparently unauthorized by law, but never questioned in the courts, by repetition clothe a later unauthorized act with the cloak of legality. Apparently, according to his theory, several repetitive, unchallenged, illegal acts sanctify those committed thereafter, I disagree."

What is unauthorized by law cannot therefore become law by presidential fiat and by precedent. The law must be established by due process, and violation of the law does not justify itself because the violation is unchallenged.

For 20 years now, the president, using economic distress and war

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Lately we have been hearing much about some new drugs that doctors welcome. Take histamine injections, which are sometimes helpful in relieving the paralysis of the face known as Bell's palsy. Quite a number of people suffer from this disorder, but most of them have the less serious type and recover in a month or two.

Bell's palsy usually attacks suddenly. The face seems to sag from the paralysis of the facial muscles. The eyelid and a corner of the mouth may droop and the person has trouble talking and chewing.

The change in appearance resulting from an attack differs for people of different ages, or facial expressions. The change is most noticeable, of course, in the person who uses his facial expression a great deal, and the muscles that are used most are the ones that sag most. The "dead pan" type of person is disfigured the least.

An attack may bring severe pain, usually around the ear, before the paralysis develops. Pain below the ear may persist for many days and become very annoying indeed.

We do not know the exact cause of Bell's palsy. It may be due to pressure on the facial nerve where it passes through the bone. About 80 per cent of patients have the less serious type of the disease, which usually passes off without difficulty. The more severe type occurs when the facial nerve degenerates. Patients with this type do not recover unless the nerve is regenerated, which may take from three to nine months.

Prompt Treatment
It is important to start treating Bell's palsy promptly—as soon as the paralysis starts, if possible. The nerves and muscles should not be given a chance to lose their function. They should be stimulated by electricity under the direction of a physician. Intravenous injections of histamine, given daily, have also produced favorable results in some cases.

It is especially important to protect the eyes during the period of palsy by wearing an eye shield or glasses. The reason for this is that the eye reflex is absent, and it is easy to injure the cornea or front of the eye, damaging the eyeball permanently.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mrs. L.: Is it well to force a child to eat even though he does not want to eat the food set before him?

Answer: It is not advisable. If the child is continuously forced to eat, he will develop a dislike for the foods offered and the eating problem will become worse as time progresses. It might also cause other behavior problems.

It makes each drop of gas say uncle

ACCORDING to combustion experts, there's as much energy locked in a drop of gasoline as there is in a drop of nitroglycerine.

But the problem is to put that energy to work.

So Buick engineers aren't content just to mix that drop with air and touch it off. They've designed an engine that brings it catapulting into a cylinder head where it strikes a turbo-top piston—gets whipped into a churning, swirling ball of tight-packed energy.

Then it's fired. And when that happens, a drop of gasoline certainly lets loose power.

This isn't something that happens in a "car of the future."

It happens in a Buick Fireball 8 Engine today. It's a high-compression engine. It's a valve-in-head engine. But it's also a Fireball in performance as well as name.

And it puts extra power under the hood—and extra miles in the fuel back in the gas tank.

Minorities Feared by Politicians

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, May 6 — The practical politicians' fear of retaliatory action by a few organized minorities strategically situated in decisive voting centers has become so great that only two candidates in the 1952 presidential free-for-all have dared to take a strong stand in opposition to their demands. They are Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

The disproportionate ballot-box power of these largely urban elements, which was built up during the Roosevelt-Truman regime, may decide the identities of the two parties' nominees at the July conventions and the winner in the November election. They will be invisible but influential delegates at the two Chicago gatherings.

OBJECTION — It is a tribute to the dictatorial role that the principal objection against the nomination of Senator Taft is embodied in the assertion that "he cannot get the labor vote."

Similarly, their grip on the politicians is recognized in the almost unanimous opinion that, despite his many qualifications, Senator Russell cannot obtain the support of racial elements in the cities of the North and West.

The only entry who so far stands four-square in favor of these minorities' legislative demands is Governor Earl Warren of California. Maintaining that he is merely abiding by the GOP's 1948 platform, he advocates creation of a Fair Employment Practices Commission with compulsory powers and amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act so as to meet organized labor's objections.

He thinks that statute is as one-sided as the predecessor Wagner Act, which was written at the dictation of the unions.

UNACCEPTABLE — The two leading Democratic lights, now that Truman is unavailable appear to be Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and W. Averell Harriman of New York. There is still hopeful talk of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, and Vice President Barkley is frequently mentioned as an outside possibility. Senator Kerr is in the race just for the fun of it, even though he may not know it.

Kefauver says that he prefers a voluntary or state-enforced FEPC, but promises to accept a compulsory alternative, if it is written into the platform. It is his willingness to compromise which makes him unacceptable to the backers of Senator Russell of Georgia. The Tennesseean is also vaguish on Taft-Hartley.

WABBLING — Harriman, as the Truman favorite, should be all-out for a federal FEPC and T-H repeal. But it is known that his distinguished sponsor in the White House is as willing to retreat on both these issues in order to prevent a party split as he was in 1948 on civil rights, and the New Yorker would raise no serious objections. He is not a fighting man.

Kerr, of course, is wiggling and dabbling on every issue, as anybody who has heard him on recent television programs must recognize. He is for aid to Europe, an ambassador at the Vatican, an FEPC, a labor-management law and for everything else that some people are for.

However, he always concludes his positive assertions with a "but," and an "on the other hand." In short, he is for Kerr, home and mother, and the United States.

MISGIVINGS — General Eisenhower may yet make public his views on these questions, but so far he has withheld them. Nor have his promoters here reached an agreement on how they think he should handle them. Final decision will await his return to this country in June.

In fact, "Ike" has already raised some misgivings about his forthrightness in replying to two queries on political issues. When Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. of New York, a Negro minister, asked his views on FEPC, Eisenhower replied that his military preoccupations had prevented him from giving sufficient study to the subject. He asked for "time out."

But when a friendly Texan requested his attitude on federal or state ownership of tideland oil properties, "Ike" gave an immediate, firm answer lining him up against "centralization or federalization of power."

'PHONY' — Although the Russell-Kefauver duel in today's Florida primary involves relatively few delegates, the result will be of major importance to the Tennessee crime-chaser. It could knock him out of the race or make him a really serious contender for the Democratic nomination.

Despite Kefauver's primary victories and street-corner popularity, he is no favorite with the politicians. Truman and the big-state bosses oppose him. He must prove, possibly today, that he is strong in the South, where he is likewise out of step with the politicians. They regard him as a "phony liberal" and a deserter of the Dixie confederacy on Capitol Hill.

• • • • •

ASSETS — He has several assets in today's contest. His Miami crime investigation earned him publicity and confidence among people critical of the free-and-easy Warren Administration. He has only one slate of delegates, whereas Senator Russell's backers have entered so many delegate lists that they may split his vote.

Thus, if Kefauver loses, his movement becomes a one-man affair. If he wins, the hostile politicians, including the man in the White House, can laugh him off no longer. He may have to appear on the ticket in first or in second place. So, watch Florida!

10 Days in Jail And Usual Fine

Intoxicated Driver Faces Court

Another intoxicated driver felt the weight of a prison term in addition to the $250 fine and suspension from driving for one year when he was taken before Judge R. L. Brubaker in municipal court Monday.

He was William V. Smith, 26, city. He was, however, allowed to serve his time in the city jail instead of the Cincinnati Workhouse.

He was the third man to be given 10 days in jail in addition to the usual fine for driving while intoxicated.

Judge Brubaker has made it clear that prison terms are now part of the punishment for drivers who are operating their motor vehicles while intoxicated.

William A. Spearman, Philadelphia, facing a charge of reckless operation after his car had jammed into another car, forcing a car in front of it into a school bus at Johnson's Crossing last Thursday was fined $25 and costs which he paid.

A charge of giving a worthless check to defraud filed against Carl Harris was withdrawn.

Glenn Edward Payton, 19, on a reckless operation charge following an accident at North Street and Temple early Monday morning was fined $50 and costs and his driving permit suspended for three months and $35 of the fine was suspended when he proves to the court that he has liability insurance.

The case of William Adams, charged with cutting to kill Ray Wilson, was continued from Monday until Wednesday. His bond is to be increased, it was indicated.

Two intoxicated persons got 10 days in jail, in addition to the usual fine. The jail sentences were suspended pending good behavior.

New 4-H Club Named Golden Needles Now

One of the most recently organized 4-H clubs in the county now has a name—the Golden Needles.

The name was selected when the 10 member girls held their second meeting Saturday afternoon at the home of Margaret Campbell.

The roll call was answered with the name of a fruit.

Two main questions were discussed: a project to raise some money for the club and a booth for the club displays at the Fair next July.

Mrs. H. Condon Campbell is the advisor and Miss Joan Campbell, her daughter, the junior advisor.

The next meeting is to be held May 17 at the Campbell home.

Taft Pondering Envoy Withdrawal

CLEVELAND, May 6—(P)—Sen. Robert A. Taft says, with a string attached, the United States should consider withdrawing its envoys from Moscow.

Taft declared in a radio broadcast Sunday he saw no purpose in envoys in Moscow where they are "virtual prisoners" of the Russians who "hardly let them out of the embassy."

But he said he would not press for withdrawal of U. S. recognition of Soviet Russia and her satellites until he had more definite information on the consequences involved.

U. S. Military Chiefs Say No War In Sight

WASHINGTON, May 6—(P)—A growing impression among top American military leaders that Russia won't launch a hot war soon appears based partly on a belief the Soviet Union needs more time to put her armed forces and economy in readiness.

This is in addition to more obvious reason, including the improved condition of the mutual defense setup in Western Europe, and the bald fact that Communist Russia has been doing exceedingly well with just a Cold War of subversion, pressure on weak nations, and promoting a "little" war in Korea.

Over the weekend, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff of the combined Western Defense forces in Europe, pointed out what he and others had said before. In a radio interview he expressed belief the Russians would not attack this year or in the near future. In fact, he does not subscribe to the doctrine that war is inevitable.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has commented that among the reasons the Russians have had for not starting war is the superior atomic stockpile of the United States, American airpower and the collective security arrangements in Europe. But he added "we don't know what the Soviet imperialists intend to do."

Ike Is Quoted As Favoring Some Subsidies

PARIS, May 6—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was quoted Monday as favoring the continuation of some of price subsidies for farmers if he is elected U. S. President.

George T. Mickelson, former governor of South Dakota who flew here Sunday to discuss farm problems with Gen. Eisenhower said:

"Gen. Eisenhower feels that the production of food and fiber is the most important industry in the United States, and that those engaged in that industry must be protected from disaster.

"He feels that there must be a correlation between the producer and the consumer in order that the economy of the whole country will be kept in balance."

Mickelson added that Eisenhower agreed that "such a correlation probably would entail government subsidies to underwrite prices of farm produce."

Mickelson is head of the Eisenhower-for-President movement in South Dakota and is heading a slate of Eisenhower delegates entered in the Republican presidential primary in that state June 3.

Gradale Sorority Entertains Mother-Daughter Banquet

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet of Gradale Sorority which is one of the highlights in the calendar year was an event of Monday evening at the Washington Country Club.

The club lounge was radiant in the decorations of flowers shading from deep purple to a delicate pink with arrangements of iris in the deeper shades blending with tulips in the gorgeous predominating theme and a large spray of pink dogwood on the mantel was especially outstanding.

Tables lighted with deep purple candles had watergardens of flowers which further carried out the colors and the speakers' table was centered with a water garden of pink carnations, the sorority flower, surrounded by deep purple tulips.

Places for guests were marked with dainty favors of perfume with wrappings in pink and purple and personalized programs marked each cover.

The invocation was given by Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, advisor, and following the dinner hour Mrs. John E. Rhoads, primus, greeted the guests and gave a parable on Mothers which was responded to by Mrs. Willard Wilson who traced a child's life through babyhood, girlhood and to womanhood through poetry.

Members were asked to introduce their guests and Mrs. Howard Perrill, the sorority mentor, explained the meaning of Gradale.

The entire group joined in the singing of the Gradale song and Mrs. Charles McCoy led in impressive Mother's Day devotions.

A chorus made up of Mrs. Charles McCoy, Mrs. Charles Simpson, Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., Mrs. Emery Lynch, Mrs. Charles Griffiths, Mrs. James Westendorf, Mrs. John Noble, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Jack White, all dressed in skirts of purple, lavender and pink with white blouses wearing sprays of lilacs, sang "For My Mother"—Mallotte and "Candlelight"—Cadman.

A humorous skit entitled "Among Us Girls," was given by Mrs. John Bath as "Mrs. Darling a bride," Mrs. Emerson Marting as "Mrs. Seymour," Mrs. Robert Creamer as "Mrs. Noyes," Mrs. Nancy Hewitt as "Miss Bertie Talsum" and Miss Will Braun as "Marie the Maid."

The chorus again appeared in two numbers, "The Syncopated Clock" and "The Green Cathedral."

Mrs. Charles Shaper conducted two contests and awards of kitchen gadgets were presented to several contestants.

The delightful event closed with the singing of the sorority theme song, "Follow the Glean."

The banquet committee was headed by Mrs. Jack White and her assistants were Mrs. George Robinson, Jr., Mrs. James Westendorf, Mrs. Charles Shaper and Mrs. Phillip Douglass.

Guests included were: Miss Joan Taylor, Mrs. Allen White, Mrs. Homer Garringer, Mrs. Frank Hard, Mrs. Marvin Hosler, Mrs. Homer McCoy, Mrs. R. R. Jones,

Former Resident To Celebrate 70th Birthday

On Thursday, May 8, the seven-tieth birthday anniversary of Mr. Milton Katz will be celebrated at the home, 1592 Bryden Road, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Katz will hold an "at home" to their friends and Mr. Katz's sister, Mrs. Michael Cohen, of Buffalo, New York, as well as their son, Col. Henry Katz, and his family of Detroit, Michigan, will be present for the party.

No invitations are being issued but friends are asked to call between the hours of 2 and 5 in the afternoon and 8 to 10 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Katz, former residents, have many friends here who no doubt will take advantage of the opportunity to extend their congratulations.

MHG Class Holds Meeting

Twenty-two members of the MHG Class of the First Presbyterian Church assembled in the Church House Monday evening for the regular May meeting.

Preceding the meeting the members cut towels under the supervision of Miss Jane Jefferson for the surgical department of Memorial Hospital.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. George Schiller and the opening devotions were in charge of Mrs. Charles Drais including "Mother's Day" and included Scripture, a beautiful poem, and was closed with prayer.

The usual reports were given and special reports on cards sent and calls made were given by members.

It was decided by the class to contribute twenty-five dollars to a worthy girl of the 1952 graduation class of Washington C. H. High School.

The meeting closed with the benediction and during the social hour a tempting dessert course was served by the hostess committee with Mrs. Fred D. Woodard as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Grace Goodwin, Mrs. M. K. Evans, Miss Ruth Donohoe, Mrs. Roy Plymale and Mrs. Faith Pearce.

Mrs. Walter McCoy, Mrs. Russell Knapp, Mrs. Charles Todhunter, Mrs. Milton Graves, Mrs. Ralph Child, Mrs. W. E. Klever.

Mrs. Ray Brandenburg, Mrs. Ben Norris, Mrs. L. C. Coffman, Mrs. Dwight Roads, Mrs. Jenetta Kehn, Mrs. Chester Kelso, Mrs. Paul Wierman, Mrs. Clarence Thomas, Mrs. W. N. Braun, Mrs. Lucy Panzlau, Mrs. Joe Fortier, Mrs. H. O. Noland, Mrs. William Buchanan, Mrs. O. H. Stewart, Mrs. Jessie Patterson, Mrs. Stella Bath, Mrs. Charles VanPelt, Mrs. Harold Hewitt, Mrs. Frank Junk, Mrs. Madge Pensyl, Mrs. Willard Wilson, Mrs. Billie Wilson, Mrs. Ray Cummings, Mrs. Hoy Simons and Mrs. Charles Garringer.

Dinner Entertained For Cleveland Guests

Mrs. Bessie Southward entertained at a dinner at her home on the Lewis Road and the occasion honored her daughter, Mrs. John Brent, Mr. Brent and sons, Johnny and Jimmy of Cleveland.

Other guests were Miss Grace Southward, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Dawson, children, Rebecca, Phyllis, Steven and Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Houser, daughter, Rosann, Mr. and Mrs. John Southward, son Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Southward, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Beucier, sons, Michael and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelly, children Kenneth and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Southward, children, Ruth and Floyd, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Southward, daughters Carolyn, Joellen and Jayne.

The Bents have returned to their home.

New Martinsburg WCTU Holds May Meeting

The May meeting of the New Martinsburg WCTU was held at the home of Mrs. William Handley with Mrs. Richard Carson as assisting hostess.

The opening devotions were led by Mrs. Harry McClure and included the hymn "Stand Up for Jesus," Scripture reading and two articles "Father of Light" and "Call To Worship."

The president, Mrs. Elden Bethards was in charge of a Mothers' Day service and flowers were presented in small arrangements to members in honor of their mothers.

Two solos "As a Child Is Trained" and "The Prayer That Mother Makes" were sung by Mrs. Bethards, Mrs. Richard Carson read an article "Mothers of the Bible" and Mrs. Harold Matthews read "Who Is the Greatest." Mrs. Bethards sang "Beyond the Sunset" in memory of a deceased member. It was decided to send potted plants to members who have been shut-ins for the past year and cards were to be sent to ill members.

The usual reports were heard and Mrs. Edward Lee Carson, program leader, read the following articles "Tribute to the King," "Why I Urge College Students Never To Drink" and "Slaves to the Drink Habit."

Following contests, light refreshments were served by the hostess.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harold Matthews.

$1½ Billion Flood Plan Presented

WASHINGTON, May 6—(P)—President Truman asked Congress Monday to set up a national system of flood disaster insurance backed by $1½ billion of government funds.

He told the lawmakers the lack of an insurance system is "a major gap in the means by which a man can make his home, his farm, or his business secure against financial loss."

New President Is Hostess To Sorority Members

The regular meeting of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was held Monday evening at the home of the newly elected president, Mrs. Richard Snyder on the Waterloo Road.

During the business session plans were completed for the Mother-Daughter Breakfast to be held Sunday, May 11, at the Washington Hotel Coffee Shop at 9 A. M. and the members will later attend services at the McNair Presbyterian Church in a body.

The president named as her standing committee for the year: Ways and Means, Mrs. Frank Karney, Mrs. Joe F. Loudner, Mrs. Billie Wilson, Mrs. Harry Campbell, Mrs. David Lewis and Mrs. Thomas Flynn; Social, Mrs. Ray Jennings, Mrs. Charles Pfersick, Mrs. James DeWeese, Mrs. Guy Briggs and Mrs. Herbert Glass; Service, Mrs. William C. Allen, Jr. and Mrs. Victor Bandy; Program, Mrs. Roy Hagler and Mrs. James Lawrence; Contact and Courtesy, Mrs. John E. Rhoads and Mrs. John Bath; Local Publicity, Mrs. George Kuhlwein and Torch Publicity and Historian, Mrs. Eugene Heath.

The cultural program was in charge of Mrs. Roy Hagler and her topic was "Happiness Through Understanding."

An open discussion was held on the subject by the members which brought out many pertinent facts.

During the social hour a tempting refreshment course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Olinger and Mrs. Frank Karney. The next regular meeting on May 19 will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Zeigler.

Camp Fire Girls Elect New Officers

The regular meeting of the Cante-O-Oze Camp Fire Girls was held at the home of Mrs. Edmond Woodmansee with Mrs. Charles Neikirk assistant advisor also present.

The members discussed plans for a picnic at some date between Mother's and Father's Day for their families and election of officers followed which resulted in Mary Lou Lowe being chosen as president; vice president, Helen Smith, secretary, Sharon Smith; treasurer, Maureen Smith and scribe, Nancy Underwood.

Refreshments were served by the advisors at the close of the meeting.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hopkins and daughter, Mary Ann, had as their guests the past week, Mrs. Hopkins' parents, Dr. and Mrs. John Kittleson of Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Mrs. Richard Durnell and son, Danny, arrived recently at Yorksuka Naval Base in Japan where they joined Mrs. Durnell's husband, T-S Durnell, who has been stationed there for the past two years according to word received by Mr. and Mrs. George Durnell, of near New Martinsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fogle and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Muller of Orlando, Fla., were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sattler in Dayton.

Bride-To-Be Is Honored At Linen Shower

Misses Shirley Pyle and Rosella Dowden entertained at the home of Miss Pyle at a linen shower honoring Miss Ann James, bride-elect of Mr. Robert Blake.

Single carnation nosegays in pink and white were presented as favors to each guest as they arrived and the honor guest received a corsage of pastel sweet peas.

The decorations in the home were made up of apple blossoms, lilacs and lilies of the valley. Games and contests were arranged for the pleasure of the guests and awards went to Mrs. Jerry Dray and Miss Sharon Rettig.

Miss James opened her lovely gifts at which had been arranged around a fountain water garden spraying green water on spring flowers and was lighted with tall tapers.

A dessert course was served by the hostess which was carried out in the colors of pink, white and green.

Mrs. Charles Pyle assisted her daughter and Miss Dowden in the hospitalities.

Guests included were Misses Laurette Jones, Joan Cockerill, Jane Terrell, Kay Morter, Jeanne Perrill, Helen Louise Hynes, Sharon Rettig, Louise Sperry, Mrs. Jack Boylan, Mrs. Jerry Dray, Mrs. Fred James and Mrs. Augusta Dowden.

If you want to puree fruits and vegetables use a sieve or a food mill rather than a strainer. A sieve has its wire mesh supported by crosswires and so is strong enough to stand having food forced through it; a strainer is not reinforced in this way and if foods are forced through it, the wire mesh is likely to pull away from the frame.

Everybody Sure Except Number 9

LOS ANGELES, May 6—(P)—A week before the arrival of George Euder's ninth child, he painted the baby's room pink and even had the outside of the house done in pink.

His wife, Olga, had been making baby clothes—all pink.

Pink, of course, is the color used for baby girls. The Euders knew they had the right color. Their eight previous children were all girls. So everybody was sure No. 9 would also be a girl.

Everybody, that is, but Gary Christopher Euder, who came home from the hospital after his father had frantically repainted the house baby boy blue.

Observers Wonder
If Iron Men Can
Keep Up The Pace

NEW YORK, May 6 — (P)—Can Cleveland's vaunted big four, rated the most formidable pitching staff in baseball continue its iron man role?

Will Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, doing double duty, be able to finish strong, pitching at this work-horse pace?

Time will tell, of course, but based on last year's results, the answer is "no."

A year ago, the big four carried the light-hitting Indians all the way until mid-September. Starting and relieving, it finally broke down under the stretch run burden.

The same four are working at a more killing pace this season. In Cleveland's 19 games, Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have started all but one. They've also been used in relief four times.

THEIR OVERALL record is 1-0 6. Last year, none of the big four was summoned in relief of a faltering mate until the Indians' 22nd game.

Manager Al Lopez has been forced to use his big guns in relief because Lou Brissie, his No. 1 relief artist, has been slow getting started.

Lopez had to use Wynn in relief of Lemon Monday and the move paid off as the Indians came from behind to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 4-2 in 10 innings. Wynn, who started and was knocked out Sunday, yielded one run in three innings and was credited with his fourth victory against one defeat.

A tenth-inning homerun by Bobby Avila followed by successive triples by Al Rosen and Ray Boone, produced three Tribe runs. Righthander Frank Shea and outfielder Archie Wilson, obtained via trade from the New York Yankees Saturday, teamed up to give the Washington Senators a 13-1 victory over the skidding St. Louis Browns in the only night activity in the major leagues.

New York's Giants maintained their slim half-game margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League, making use of their four hits to nip the Chicago Cubs, 3-2. Wes Westrum's two-run homer and Bobby Thomson's run-scoring triple, plus the brilliant relief pitching of Monte Kennedy, earned the Giants their victory.

Ralph Branca limited Pittsburgh to four hits as Andy Pafko and Gil Hodges paced the Dodgers to a 5-1 victory with home runs. The game was halted at the end of eight innings by rain.

Steubenville Plans Take Action
To Remove Blot Of Probation

STEUBENVILLE, May 6 — (P)—Steubenville board of education is slated to meet Tuesday night to map action against athletic probation slapped on Steubenville high school.

The state board of the Ohio High School Athletic Association Monday placed Steubenville and Wellsville high school on athletic probation.

The board said its decision resulted from a March 8 basketball game in which Coach Ang Vacarro of Steubenville received a black eye.

Principal Albert C. May of Steubenville asked James McHugh, board of education attorney, to determine if court action could be taken to reverse the state board's ruling. Ralph M. Gantz, Steubenville superintendent, said action would be up to the city board of education.

The state board's decision placed Steubenville on probation for the entire 1952-53 school year. Wellsville will be on probation from the beginning of the next school year through the basketball season.

Both Wellsville and Steubenville were charged with unsportsmanlike conduct.

Vacarro reportedly got his "shiner" from Wellsville Coach Newt Oliver in the district finals at St. Clairsville.

Beulah Park
Racing Opens
On Saturday

With the greatest meeting in its history in prospect, Beulah Park moves into the 29th year Saturday, when a 19-day session of running races gets underway.

Every one of the 777 stalls at the Grove City course is occupied. Most of the horses have been shipped to Beulah from Oaklawn Park and Florida.

Among the owners represented at Beulah are Cary Boshamer, himself president of two Ohio race courses (Thistlewood and Cranwood); I. J. Collins, the Lancaster glass magnate whose Vulcan Forge won the rich Santa Anita Handicap in 1949, and Col. Phil T. Chinn of Lexington, long a prominent figure in turfdom.

Beulah will bask in the national jockey spotlight during its spring season as two members of the riding colony—Howard Craig and Joe Vitelli—are in the thick of the battle for the U. S. title of the year.

Twilight racing will be in vogue every day except Saturdays and Memorial Day with the post time for the first race being 4 P. M. (EST). The starting time on Saturdays and Memorial Day will be 2:15 P. M. (EST). Nine races will be on the Saturday and holiday cards while eight will be run on twilight days.

Davey Given Nod
In Vejar Match

CHICAGO, May 6 — (P)—Undeclared Chuck Davey, who is aiming for the world's welterweight title to go with his master's degree from Michigan State, is a slight favorite to whip sensational Chico Vejar of New York University Wednesday night.

Davey rules a 7-5 choice in Chicago and is even stronger in Vejar's eastern stronghold, being quoted a 9-5 favorite in New York. The Chicago Stadium scrap will be televised and broadcast coast-to-coast at 9 p. m. (EST).

Umpire Scotty Robb Turns In Resignation To NL Chieftain

CINCINNATI, May 6 — (P)—The Mystery of the Resignation of Umpire Scotty Robb is now the National League's "best seller."

Robb, a senior loop arbiter since 1947, sent League President Warren Giles a terse note Monday that he was quitting, "as of today."

Neither he nor Giles offered any explanation but the gossip immediately went back to the night of April 22 when Robb and Manager Eddie Stanky of St. Louis got into a ruckus in a game here because Robb had ordered Solly Hemus of the Cards out of a game.

They did some shoving around of each other and Giles happened to be in Crosley Field to see it.

The next day Stanky was fined $50, Hemus $25 and Giles said Robb was "disciplined" and fined a sum "much greater than the combined fines of the players."

EVERYTHING seemed to be reasonably peaceful after that until Robb's sudden resignation. As far as could be determined no major league baseball umpire ever quit his job during the season as abruptly as Robb.

Statements issued by both Giles and Robb Monday night did little to clear the mystery of why the arbiter suddenly decided to give up his job—just after he had finished working a series here.

Giles said: "Robb is a splendid gentleman and I told him we would like to have him continue as a member of the staff if he felt he could work efficiently."

"Since he feels there is an existing situation which prevents this, we accept his resignation."

Robb said: "My resignation as a National League umpire speaks for itself."

There is absolutely nothing more I will say. As far as I am concerned, the matter is a closed book."

Joe Rossomando, assistant baseball coach at Yale, is a graduate of St. Viator's in Bourbonnais, Ill.

SLOTS COSTLY
CINCINNATI — Louis Distel, 68, Portsmouth, pleading guilty to transporting 150 slot machines to Raceland, Ky., drew a one year suspended sentence in prison, but must pay a fine of $2,500.

Bloomington Senior Class Play To Be Presented Thursday Night

A drama of life, with its lighter moments and its romance, is to be put on by the senior class of Bloomington High School Thursday evening in the school auditorium. The first curtain is to rise at 8 P. M.

The play selected by the class this year is "Now and Forever," by Irving Phillips.

It is somewhat of a costume play of the 1900 era—not beyond the memories of many who will be in the audience.

The story is woven about the life of a girl who gave up marriage for herself to make a home for and be a mother to the children of her sister. But everything works out all right in the end.

Mrs. Elton B. Elliott, who is directing the play, said that with the possible exception of Bonnie Waugh, who takes the part of Ellen Smith, the girl who sacrificed her love and happiness to mother her nieces and nephews, there are no leading roles in the strict sense of the term.

There are only 12 in the cast—seven girls and five boys.

Marine Private Sentenced To Die

NEWARK, May 6.—Marine Pvt. Louis Angel, 18, of Huntington, W. Va., Monday was sentenced to die in the electric chair Aug. 14 for the slaying of Allen Drake.

Common Pleas Judge Charles B. Holtsberry pronounced sentence in a packed courtroom. He told Angel he "hoped the Supreme Being above will have mercy on your soul."

Angel was found guilty Saturday by a jury of seven men and five women in the March 4 slaying of the Columbus numbers writer. Angel had been indicted for the slaying along with a Marine Corps buddy, Pvt. Harmon Cordray, 18, of Mooresville, Ind., who will go on trial June 2.

German Refugees Demanding Doles

BONN, May 6.—Thousands of German refugees marched on the West German capital Sunday night with loud demands for doles and loans which would cut deep into the proposed German share of spending for western defense.

A mob of 50,000 demonstrators swarmed through the city's main square shouting against West German government leaders and chanting Germany's prewar anthem, Deutschland ueber Alles. A thousand police kept a close watch for violence.

The first nominating convention in U. S. history chose Andrew Jackson by acclamation in 1832.

In the cast are Norma Jean Noble, Bonnie Waugh, Phyllis Simmer, Dolores Foster, Mary Lewis, Christina Snodgrass, Ruth Trenner, Mackay McDonald, Eugene Nelson, Paul Bennett, Eddie Halterman and John Summers.

Others of the class make up what is broadly termed the stage crew—and that includes Ronald Lee, the business manager. The others, who are to arrange for the stage settings and properties, are Blanche Skaggs and Ruth Trenner and Eugene Nelson, both of whom also have roles in the play.

The entire action of the play takes place on the screened porch of a home in Cedarville, Ia.

It starts with the first act on the morning of July 3. The first scene of the second act is at 7 o'clock that evening and the second scene is the same evening after midnight. The play closes with the third act the next morning of July 4.

Proceeds from the play will go into the senior class treasury that will be used to help finance its last educational project—a trip to see some of the country and some of the historic sites.

Details, such as transportation and the itinerary, are now nearing completion.

Contract Bids Must Be In by 1 P. M. June 5

Commissioners and Hospital Board To Act On Proposals

Bids from contractors for the expansion improvement of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital will be opened at the office of the county commissioners in the Court House on the afternoon of Thursday, June 5.

According to the legal advertisement appearing in the Record-Herald once a week for a period of four weeks, the bids will be received up to 1 P. M. on June 5.

Meantime the copies of working drawings and specifications are on file in the office of the Fayette County auditor in the Court House for public inspection.

All these matters were reviewed Monday night at the regular meeting of the hospital board of trustees. C. Curtis Incho, architect, was present to explain all the necessary actions and legal preliminaries leading up to the awarding of contracts.

It was agreed that after bids are received, reviewed and calculations made during the afternoon of June 5, a joint meeting of the hospital trustees and the members of the county commissioners will be held in the evening to discuss awarding of contracts.

If it is possible to award contracts immediately such action probably will be taken with a view to getting construction started on the new wing at the earliest possible time.

The only other matters to come before the hospital board Monday night were routine.

Kindly Gestures By Merry Maids

Members of the Merry Maids 4-H Club today were getting ready to carry out their plans to send a basket of fruit to Russell Carpenter, who is in the Veteran's Hospital in Dayton, and a potted plant to Mrs. David Looker, who is in Memorial Hospital. Carpenter is a resident of the Marion community where the Merry Maids live and Mrs. Looker was the club's advisor for the last two years.

The plans for doing this were made at the club's Monday afternoon meeting at the home of Marilyn Writsel.

The first year members worked on their tea towels and plan to hem them at the next meeting.

The third year members are to have their patterns cut out and partly basted when the club meets again.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mary Allison, May 12.

Man Arrested Here For Champaign County

Child Welfare Board Meets

Resolution of Thanks Sent Armco Workers

A resolution cordially thanking the workers from the plant of Armco Drainage and Metal Products, Inc., here, for the extensive work done at the Fayette County Children's Home recently, was passed by the county Child Welfare Board, at its meeting Monday afternoon.

As a special community Foundation's Day project, employees of the Armco plant completed an extensive program of interior improvements at the institution. Some of the rooms were redecorated, floors sanded and refinished, new linoleum placed, new lockers installed for many of the children and a big party provided for all the youngsters there, as a finishing touch.

The Fayette County Child Welfare Board which has charge of the Children's Home and also the county program of placing county wards in boarding homes, also checked over other needed improvements at the county institution during Monday's meeting.

It was decided to obtain an estimate covering the cost of such repairs and installation of new facilities as are needed and arrange for a conference, if possible, with the county commissioners, to determine what kind of a financial program can be arranged through the county to meet the institution's requirements for improvements as early in the future as possible.

Green Clover Club Plans Gardening

Besides making plans for their garden planting, members of the Green Clover 4-H Club started work on sewing their bean bag projects at their meeting at Bookwalter School.

The members also decided to have an old fashioned ice cream and cake social sometime in June.

Bonnie Huff, the club's president, will discuss the 4-H Club work book, "Let's Sew," at the next meeting, Saturday at the Bookwalter School, the members are to decide what all they will need in their sewing and work baskets.

Weaving is believed to be one of the earliest, if not the earliest, craft practiced by mankind.

Navy Man Washed Overboard To Be Buried at Mt. Sterling

Funeral services for Howard Ray Yerian, 21, who was washed overboard from an LST navy transport craft April 20 in the Atlantic Ocean, will be held Wednesday at 2 P. M. in the Snyder Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling.

Yerian, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Yerian of New Holland, was an engineer-fireman aboard the ship off Norfolk, Va., when a wave swept him overboard. His body was found April 30.

Yerian was graduated from Mt. Sterling High School in 1949 and he went into the naval service April 29, 1950.

He had completed seven trips across the Pacific aboard the transport Beckenridge. The ship was the first to return wounded Marines to the United States.

Following the tour of sea duty Yerian was assigned to shore duty on the east coast. He last visited his parents during the Christmas holidays.

Survivors include his parents, one brother, Capt. Carl Yerian, with the United States Airforce in Germany and two sisters Mrs. Wilma Jean Reiter of Louisville, Ky. and Miss Beverly Yerian at home.

Burial will be in the Mt. Sterling Cemetery.

Friends may call at the residence in New Holland any time.

Man Ordered Out of City After Trouble

Raymond W. Johnson, 41, Negro, whose address was listed as "just anywhere," was again ordered out of the city and the police were told to arrest him on sight if he ever returns.

That twin action was taken when he appeared in municipal court Tuesday morning.

Johnson had been arrested on disorderly and drunk complaint at the bus station Monday afternoon, when his conduct had become so obnoxious that people left the bus station to get away from him.

It was his third offense here, and his record shows he has been in trouble at various places in the country.

Judge R. L. Brubaker fined him $50 and costs, gave him 90 days in jail but suspended the 90 days and $50 fine when he told Johnson he would be arrested on sight if he showed himself here again within the next two years.

Police and Sheriff Orland Hays Monday picked up Edward F. Whittington, Patterson Air Force Base, on a charge of assaulting Areold Hart. He was arrested at New Holland.

Florence Beum, 43, New Holland, also was taken into custody by the police, on a disorderly charge.

Grass and Rubbish Fires Cause Alarm

Fireman responded to two alarms Monday and in both instances the fires were confined to grass and rubbish.

The first was on Millwood Avenue where fire had burned in the grass and leaves along a fence and was spreading.

Nearby residents had most of the fire out by using buckets of water before the firemen arrived.

The second fire was along the city dump at the northern terminus of Fayette Street, where sparks from a passing locomotive had started fire in refuse. The tanker was used in extinguishing this blaze.
